HAVE A LOOK

AT OUR SILVER LEVER WATCH at Rs. 35 before buying, and you will give it the preference before any other.

The Watch as it is now, is the result of 20 years experience in the Indian watch trade, and we guarantee it to be the most perfect watch ever offered to the public for such a small outlay.

Being the manufacturers ourselves, the buyer obtains the watch from first hand. This explains its cheapness.

The Watches are of medium size in heavy engine turned silver cases, either hunting or half hunting. Guarantee 3 years.

To be obtained only direct from our firms at Bombay, Calcutta, and Secunderabad.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

THURSDAY EVENING, Nov. 5.

ALTHOUGH nominally we only close for the Dewali holidays from to-day their influence as usual in circumscribing business has been apparent throughout the entire week. The share market indeed has been closed for the past three days, and native dealers both in imports and exports have, in the customary way, restricted themselves to carrying through current operations and squaring up their accounts, leaving the initiation of fresh transactions until after the opening of the new business year which commences from to-morrow night. Even without the holidays to contend with, however, the position has been against the development of activity in any branch of regular trade. Telegraphic advices from home regarding exports have been uniformly discouraging, and it has been a task of the greatest difficulty placing Bombay produce in the European markets. In the matter of Wheat and Seeds the downward tendency apparent in Exchange and Freights may bring sellers and buyers nearer together before long, but in Cotton it has been less a question of price than finding buyers on any terms. So far our local dealers have regarded this position with comparative indifference. Prices nominately have been regulated by the telegraphic advices from home, and during the past week a fall of about Rs. 2 per candy has been established, but with very little of last season's crop in the country there has been no disposition to sell now for future delivery, and only the pressure of actual arrivals seems likely to place business on an altered basis. Fortunately for the hope of a more active state of things we are likely to see stuff coming in pretty freely at an unusually early date. Picking and ginning has been general in the Bengal districts and the Berars for the past ten days, and a fortnight hence we shall have merchantable parcels available.

MONEY.—The last Bank of Bombay return showed an increase in the trade demand of close on 17 lakhs, but the Government balances having increased, the cash only exhibited a reduction of about 7 lakhs. This in the existing state of ease could have no effect on the market, more especially as the withdrawals in all probability have merely been the result of temporary requirements in anticipation of the holidays. The official minimum rate of discount with the Bank of Bombay remains at 4 per cent. and in the open market at 2 per cent. per annum for loans secured by Government Paper, and we do not anticipate any advance on these figures until after the turn of the year.

EXCHANGE.—The fluctuations in sterling this week have been insignificant, 1-32d. having covered the extent of the movements both ways. Last mail-day the tone of the market was weakish, and the banks, although adhering to their Thursday's drawing rates, were buyers of private bills at 1-32d. decline, making the closing figures 1s. 6 5-32d. for demand Bank Bills and 1s. 6 5-16d. for 3 months' Credits. This remained the position until Monday, when private paper was partially advanced 1-32d., and on Tuesday some slight additional firmness was apparent, resulting in the rise of 1-32d. being made good all round. Since then practically no change has taken place. We should probably have eased down a little to-day owing to Council drafts on London yesterday having only brought 1s. 6 3-16d. again, but on the eve of the holidays merchants have naturally a disposition to get in all the bills they can while the banks are not disposed to break the rates if they can avoid it. We quote at the close :—

Bank Bills on London		1s. 6 3-16d.	per rupee.
Do.	Telegraphic Transfer.	1s. 6¼d.	"
Do.	3 months' sight	1s. 6 9-32d.	"
Do.	4 "	1s. 6 5-16d.	"
Do.	6 "	1s. 6¼d.	"
Credits	3 "	1s. 6 11-32d.	"
Do.	6 "	1s. 6¼d.	"
Documents	3 "	1s. 6¼d.	"
Do.	6 "	1s. 6 17-32d.	"
Francs	3 "	1·91	"
Do.	6 "	1·95½	"

The total amount of the transactions put through since last steamer left has not been larger, mainly owing to the absence of demand for remittance, as tempted by the comparatively moderate range of forward rates merchants have been selling a little. For 3 months' Credits delivery up to the end of the year 1s. 6¼d. has been the rate and for April-May 1s. 6¼d. per rupee. In an ordinary way with a good shipping season in prospect these differences on currents rates might be considered in favor of sellers, but the appearance of the market points to the buyers being able to cover in their operations to advantage at no very distant date. The Dewali bargains in Piece-Goods are almost certain to increase the demand for remittance and the least manifestation of that as things are now has a weakening effect.

Bar Silver has remained in London at 47¾d. per oz. throughout the week, but it seems to have been pretty freely offered at that, as Reuter advises shipments for this side to the extent of £120,000 for Bombay and £20,000 for Calcutta.

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—The market has been dull with declining prices throughout, and very little fresh business has been done. During the first day or two after the departure of last steamer the brokers were occupied with the monthly settlement, and since that has been completed, the preparations for the Dewali have prevented much being done. Fours for Cash closed last Thursday at Rs. 97½, but dropped on Friday to Rs. 97⅜, since when they have wavered between that and Rs. 97 7-16, closing to-day at 97⅜. For delivery up to the end of the month the price receded in the same way from Rs. 97½ to Rs. 97-1-16 which is the rate now. Fours-and-a-half have been to a great extent nominal throughout at Rs. 99.

SHARES.—There has been almost nothing at all passing in shares since the date of our last weekly report, the market having been closed altogether for the past three days. Banks remain quite unaltered. Press Companies are steady, and in the case of Mofussila rather dearer. Spinning and Weaving Mills in most instances are without change, but we notice an advance of Rs. 5 in Oriental, Rs. 10 in Dhurrumsey and Southern India, Rs. 20 in Indian Manufacturing. "In the Miscellaneous list we note an improvement of Rs. 10 in Bombay-Burmah Trading. Port Cannings are Rs. 5 lower. Flour Mills are all unchanged.

IMPORTS.

PIECE-GOODS.—For all practical purposes business has been suspended for some days past as dealers have been squaring up their books and getting ready for the new year. Altogether not more than 2,500 packages have been moved from the bazaar during the week, and these without bringing out any change in prices. The Dewali bargains however, commencing to-morrow night are confidently excepted to be on a large scale, and if so we may look for a more cheerful tone developing in the trade generally, as they afford a pretty reliable indication of how the off-take is likely to shape for a considerable portion of the season. At the moment the indications rather favor an active time in Bleached and Fancy Goods, but Grey staple cloths seem inclined to hang fire, and the fairly free purchases made about a month or five weeks ago scarcely promise a profitable result to the buyers.

TWIST.—Only a limited business has been doing in imported Yarns, and we call the market quiet at unchanged prices pending what the Dewali may bring forth. Local Yarns meet a moderate inquiry, 10s. and 12s. being the counts most in favor. For these a slight improvement in price has been obtainable, but others are unaltered.

METALS.—Copper is week with a further decline of As. 4 to As. 8 per cwt. owing to continued adverse advices from home. For Yellow Metal the demand is rather slack and prices are unaltered. Iron is dull and unchanged.

COALS.—We have not heard of any new business latterly. Sellers quote Rs. 15 for Davison's, Rs. 15-8 for Cardiff, November-December shipment, buyers at 8 Annas per ton less.

EXPORTS.

COTTON.—The home advices during the early part of the week were extremely dull, and rates here gave way about Rs. 3 per candy in consequence. Yesterday and to-day, however, a somewhat firmer tone with a recovery of about Rs. 1 has been established owing rather more active accounts from Liverpool. The improvement which Reuter advises however, does not appear to have been in any way general as buying orders have not come in at all freely, nor at figures which would admit of shippers paying within Rs. 4 to Rs. 5 of ruling rates.

Some purchases of New Cotton have taken place this week but not to any important extent. All we have heard of is about 1,000 bales Bengals, 500 bales Oomras, and 200 bales Broach. We may however count pretty confidently on more activity setting in after the holidays as steady supplies of New Cotton will then begin to be available, and dealers will be more disposed to do business at market rates, which hitherto this season they have decidedly not been. Already some small sample lots of Bengals and Omras have come to hand, but they cannot be taken as fairly representing the crop, regarding which the latest accounts from the districts are very favourable. Most people are now talking of shipments during the first six months of the current year being between 1,000,000 and 1,100,000 bales, but this of course is mere a guess work as yet.

The following are to-day's quotations for full-pressed Cotton with the equivalents in Sterling, Cost and Freight to Liverpool, via Canal, without commission :—

New Crop—		per Candy.	per lb. C. & F.
Bengal, Fine	January	Rs. 172 =	4 1-32d.
Do. Fully Good	do.	" 162 =	3 13-16d.
Do. Good	do.	" 157 =	3 11-16d.

Broach do.	do.	" 211 =	4 31-32d.
Dhollera do.	April	" 188 =	4 13-32d.

The movements of Cotton to date show the following comparisons with the two previous years :—

	1885.	1884.	1883.

For the week	554	631	317
Since 1st January	57,034	94,942	79,168

WHEAT.—There has been very little buying going on of late. Home advices keep extremely dull, but sellers here hold to their rates most tenaciously and render buying impracticable. We quote No. 1 Soft White Rs. 26½ to Rs. 27, Soft Red Rs. 25½ to Rs. 25½, Laskari Rs. 23, Hard Red Rs. 22 to Rs. 22½.

SEEDS.—Linseed is dull at Rs. 6-12 to Rs. 6-13, ready Rs. 5-15 to Rs. 6 for April, per cwt. In Rapeseed there is very little doing. We quote New Yellow Guzerat April delivery at Rs. 6-2. Gingelly is now beginning to come in more freely, but forward delivery business is most inactive. Forward December-January delivery we quote White Rs. 35, Mixed Rs. 34 per Candy.

The comparative imports of Wheat and Seeds are as follows :—

THERE was not a single death from cholera in Bombay last week. The health of the town is also very satisfactory in other respects, the death-rate being 23·87 as against 26·49 in the corresponding week last year.

Slight rain in parts of Dharwar, Belgaum, Bijapur, Ahmednuggur, and Sholapur. More rain urgently required for rabi crops in parts of Khandesh. Reaping of kharif and sowing of rabi crops in progress generally. Cholera and fever in parts of fourteen, cattle-disease in parts of eleven, and small-pox in parts of three districts.

THE financial results of the Soldiers' Exhibition in Calcutta last cold weather are not encouraging to the promoters of similar displays in other parts of India. The exhibition is said to have been a great success, but it was bought at a heavy price. Although the exhibits met with a ready sale, the expenses of the enterprise were heavy, and the result is a deficit of Rs. 2,924. There was a balance from the last exhibition of Rs. 3,025, Government gave a grant of Rs. 3,000, the admittance receipts came to Rs. 8,676, and the sale of soldiers' exhibits to Rs. 4,056—the total receipts being Rs. 20,548. The principal charges were lighting, Rs. 2,940; remittances to exhibitors, Rs. 4,019; and wages to workmen, Rs. 1,971. The next exhibition is to be held at Meean Meer in November, 1886.

THE Bill to facilitate the construction and to regulate the working of tramways, which we foreshadowed some time ago, has been published.

IN parts of Burmah a sort of wine is prepared from a wild grape common in the province. An unfermented specimen was found on analysis to contain 16 per cent. of grape sugar, and it also contained a considerable quantity of essential oil, which gives it a pleasant flavour.

THE Novoe Vremya of St. Petersburg publishes the following telegram from Askhabas:—"At the instance of the British authorities the exportation of grain from Khorassan into Russian territory has been prohibited. The English themselves are buying up large supplies in Khorassan without interference and are erecting storehouses in Khasra and Turbeti."

THE late political contest at Pondicherry seems not to have been conducted with a due regard for electoral purity. The Conservative party charge the supporters of M. Allyne, who was returned, with corrupt practices; and they seem to have established such sufficient grounds for their charges that the Government has appointed a special committee to inquire into and report upon them. This report will then be reviewed by the Governor and forwarded to the Minister of the Colonies for the final decision of the Chamber of Deputies. In the meantime M Rouvier, the Opposition candidate, has been elected Deputy for Nice.

IT seems that the Imperial meeting at Kremsier, which lasted twenty hours, has cost the Austrian Court Treasury upwards of £60.000. Truth remarks:—"It is a proof of the morbid state of terror and apprehension in which the Czar exists that on arriving at Kremsier, he refused to occupy the splendidly furnished apartments which had been prepared for him, and installed himself in a couple of rooms at the other end of the palace which had been destined for some members of the suite. There must have been frightful waste, or else the whole company must have indulged in a gross orgie, for 1,000 bottles of Rhine "Cabinet" wines, 3,000 of champagne, 2,500 of claret, 300 of liqueurs, and 300 of brandy were consumed by 800 persons at two meals."

REFERRING to a Calcutta paper's account of an interview with the Nyongoke Prince, one of the claimants to the throne of Theebaw, the Pioneer remarks:—"The Prince was clearly playing his own cards when he deplored the prospect of annexation in the national interest, on the ground that the King was the high-priest of the Burmans, and that a blow struck at him would be felt by the whole Buddhist faith. If there is a spiritual reverence attached to the Burmah throne this is the first we have heard of it; but the Prince's interest in staving off annexation is obvious. His attempts at gaining the crown have, however, been sufficiently patent fiascoes to put him out of the running, and, as far as can be seen, the installation of any other claimant woul merely be to create a fresh set of pretenders and defer the final settlement of the country."

THE report by the Legal Remembrancer to the Government of the North-West Provinces has been published. The litigation in which that Government was engaged during the twelve months ending September, 1884, seems to have been very unsatisfactory. The percentage of cases won was 10 per cent. lower than in the previous year; and going into the details, cases of mismanagement are obvious. A fruitless and expensive suit for the Saharanpur estate was discovered to have been founded upon forged documents, and showed, according to the Government of the North-West Provinces, that there had not been "that careful preliminary examination which the interests and the reputation of Government require;" and further that "in a large proportion of the suits lost by Government there had been inadequate inquiry as to the basis of the case before institution of proceedings."

THE Doveton College, Calcutta, seems to have been exceptionally successful in the matter of training teachers for other educational institutions. It claims that there is scarcely an existing Protestant institution in Bengal that has not at some time or other been indebted to the Parental Academy for its best educators. At least half the staff of the Doveton College has always consisted of those who have been trained within its own walls, and at the present moment every considerable school in Calcutta has two Dovetonians on its teaching establishment—La Martinere, St. James's High School, the Calcutta Free Schools, and even the Calcutta Boys' School. The European schools in the Metropolis of the North-West Provinces won their highest honours under the direction of Dovetonians. The leading Zilla School in the same province is under the control of a former Doveton collegian and master, and there is a strong probability that its staff will soon be reinforced by two who have more recently assumed the robe.

THE American papers contain an unusual number of reports of atrocious outrages by negroes, which were followed in many cases by the "lynching" of the criminals. The following account, which we take from the New York Herald is one of the most extraordinary:—"Raleigh, N. C., September 29.—The town of Pittsboro, in Chatham County, was last night the scene of a terrible occurrence. At one o'clock this morning a band of 100 disguised men marched up to the gaol and demanded the keys of the gaoler. They made threats when he refused to accede, and finally forced him to deliver the keys and show them to the cells in which four negroes, charged with being the murderers of the Gunter and Finch families, were confined. This done, they took out the four persons wanted—Jerry Finch, his wife Harriet Finch, Lee Tyson, and John Pattishall. The prisoners were in an agony of fear. They had for weeks dreaded lynching, and now their time had come. The lynchers were inexorable, and marched the prisoners to a place about a mile from Pittsboro, near a crossing on a public road. Then all four were hanged on one tree.

INQUEST ON THE BODY OF A SERGEANT.—The Coroner of Madras held an inquest on Monday evening, at the General Hospital, touching the death of Sergeant Edward Doran, of the Second Battalion, Hampshire Regiment, who was reported to have died from exposure caused by his sleeping outside his tent on the glacis of Fort St. George, where the camp of the regiment to which the deceased belonged was pitched. Surgeon-Major Kilroy gave it as his opinion that the man had died from cold and exposure. The jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

DIVINING THE SECRET THOUGHTS OF M. LESSAR.

MR. STUART CUMBERLAND, according to the Central News, succeeded in divining the secret thoughts of M. Lessar previous to the departure of that eminent savant for St. Petersburg. It happened in this way. Mr. Cumberland, who was sitting on the platform next to M. Lessar at the London University when Sir Peter Lumsden read his paper on Afghanistan under the auspices of the Royal Geographical Society, took it into his head to try some of his thought-reading feats upon the Russian Commissioner, and the next evening he undertook to read that gentleman's covert thoughts. The Russian savant was asked to think of a route by which, according to his judgment, the Russians might invade India. A war map of Afghanistan and the Indo-Russian frontiers was pinned to a door in M. Lessar's sitting-room, and before it stood the thought-reader and his subject, the former being blindfolded. The starting place, it was agreed, should be Penjdeh. With a pencil in his hand Mr. Cumberland, acting upon M. Lessar's current thoughts, proceeded to trace out the route. At first he drew a line, which, skirting Herat, went on towards Candahar, but, stopping half way, he said, "But surely this is not your thought?" "Oh no," answered M. Lessar, in undue haste, "I thought of first going to Herat." "Just so," replied Mr. Cumberland with a smile, "but I thought the Russians had no intention of going to Herat." Mr. Cumberland affirms that whilst all M. Lessar's thoughts were upon Herat he was doing all in his power to prevent himself from physically betraying that fact. Afterwards Mr. Cumberland drew another route-thought of M. Lessar's, which went by way of Maimana, Balk, and Cabul. So quickly did M. Lessar's thoughts, in his haste to conquer India, run from Kabul to Peshawur, that it was with great difficulty Mr. Cumberland's pencil kept pace with them.

Mr. Cumberland, who, it will be remembered, has travelled a good deal in Russia, and has a thorough knowledge of the Muscovite character, frankly admits that, judging from his observation of M. Lessar he would not trust that gentleman to draw the boundary of a kitchen-garden, whilst he would place every confidence in the judgment of Sir Peter Lumsden.

A NEW SPORTING PROJECTILE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The following notes on a new sporting projectile will probably be interesting to some of your readers, and especially to those who cannot afford a large battery. The projectile referred to is the Edinburgh "Automatic Sharpnell Shell," a good deal advertised, and noticed lately in the London Field. This consists of two hemispheres of sheet brass, bolted together by an iron wire spindle, in the same way as a common door-hinge, and filled with shot. A twelve-gauge shell holds a trifle over half an ounce of shot, or, in round figures, half the ordinary charge of an ounce and one-eighth. The powder charge for this is two and three-quarter drachms avoirdupois, the usual charge being three drachms. The cartridge case is loaded with powder in the usual way, with a thick felt wad over the powder. Careful loaders separate this from the powder with a "greaseproof" wad to prevent the grease in the thick wad from decomposing the charge. The spindle bolt of the brass shell is clenched at its base or rear end into two wads. These should be seated on the powder wads, when the powder is separated from the shell by at least three wads; a practice long recognised as sound. The brass shell is supposed to fit the cartridge case so well as to require no securing; but I find that in practice it does not fit, and must be secured by turning in the cartridge case over it with the finger or a tool, otherwise the firing of the pin barrel makes the shell on the left jump forward. The wire spindle is not clenched at any point in front of the shell, but may be cut short with a pair of pliers or champagne nipper; a process which is supposed to regulate the bursting range of the shell.

My experiments were conducted with the spindle at full length, and included shots at all ranges from sixty to one hundred and twenty yards. The guns used were a Newcastle chilled No. 6, 6 and 2 and the powder was Curtis and Harvey's No. 6, 14 size, as these are much used by sportsmen here. The gun was an old double cylinder gun by Holland and Holland, weighing seven pounds—a good gun, but nothing remarkable, such a gun as many people have here. For comparison's sake there was shot with it a heavy four-barreled gun carrying wire cartridges of one-and-a-half ounce of shot each.

This letter has already stretched to too great a length, and I will therefore only say that the brass shell is apparently useless up to 50 yards, flying as a solid shot. At 60 and 70 yards it appears to be very efficient, putting No. 6 shot through card-board one-eighth of an inch thick. At 95 yards the pattern with No. 6 was good; but the penetration less, the shot not piercing the card-board. But at this range, and at 120 yards, No. 2 shot were driven clean through the card-board, and the pattern was fairly good, quite such as would justify firing at a single bustard or crane, or at a flock of ducks. As the number of pellets and the charge of shot in the shell would be very small, I stopped at No. 2, which has 122 pellets to the ounce, ergo about 65 in this shell. The wire cartridge was "out of it" at 95 yards, and the penetration at shorter range makes it would probably hold its own on account of the greater number of pellets, and there could, of course, be no competition between a 12-bore with the brass shell, and a specially built duck gun of 8-bore, or even of 10.

By people who own only one gun, however, this shell will probably be found very useful for occasional long shots. I think the best sizes of chilled shot to use in it will be Nos. 6 and 2; but people's opinions vary about such matters. One thing is certain; that is, that the shell that better bowls, looked at the filling of them, is a very tedious business, and the instructions sent with them are very meagre and useless. Messrs Treacher & Co. have a sample (which I sent them, as likely to be interesting to sportsmen in Bombay), but no stock. I need hardly say that I have no interest in the invention, nor in Treacher and Co.

THE BOMBAY MILL INDUSTRY AND THE SILVER QUESTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I wonder where Mr. J. M. Maclean got the information which appears in his letter anent the Silver Question in the Times, that "meanwhile the Indian mills are thriving. Every year they grow in number and prosperity." In point of fact, as every one knows, the Indian mills are not thriving, and some of the mills are running at a loss. The reason of this is not far to seek. Too many mills, manufacturing too much yarn; no outlet; great faith in China, while account sales show heavy losses. And need Lancashire be afraid? Mr. Maclean predicts that Lancashire will be ruined. I doubt it, and for this reason. The Lancashire mills manufacture cloth, &c., which is in demand in India, and cannot be manufactured by the Indian mills: hence the markets will adjust themselves, India affording higher prices in depreciated rupees. As regards Mr. Maclean's statement that the fall in silver has been India's opportunity, I certainly agree with him. The volume of export, in wheat seed, &c., has immensely increased owing to the fall in exchange of the depreciated rupee. As for Government, I think too much is made of the Government loss in exchange, when the great increase of India's export business is taken into consideration. There is, however, no mistake about the position of the family remitter, or anyone whose rupee-income has to be paid in England. These, as things stand at present, "go to the wall."

THE RAKHMABAI MATRIMONIAL SUIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The recent decision of the Hon. Justice Pinhey in the case of Dadajee Bhikajee vs. Rakhmabai has caused a good deal of sensation among the Hindu community and the newspaper writers. Some think that the decision in question will have the effect of sapping the foundation of Hindu society; while others, who have the cause of Hindu social reform at heart, think otherwise, and are of opinion that the decision in question will have the effect of gradually putting a stop to the baneful custom of early marriages obtaining among the Hindus.

I am not concerned here with what may be the consequences of such a decision as that under notice. What I am at present concerned with, is whether the Hon. Justice Pinhey's decision is supported by the Hindu Law and by the Acts of the British Legislature at present in force.

One of the main grounds on which the Hon. Justice Pinhey's decision is based is, that the defendant Rakhmabai at the time of her marriage was a minor, and therefore incapable of giving consent to her marriage with the plaintiff, her husband. The decision further goes on to state that, as Rakhmabai did not go and live with her husband since the marriage, the marriage was not consummated. Chiefly upon these two grounds, among others, it was decided that Rakhmabai could not be compelled to go and live with her husband against her will.

Now the Hindu Law, as at present administered, declares that a bride (who is generally a minor at the time of marriage) may be given away in marriage by her father, or other male relatives with the consent of her father. The law further declares that the girl may also be given away by her mother—Mayne's Hindu Law, 3rd Edition, para. 80. Mayne, in his work quoted above, also observes, para 84: "As the great and primary object of marriage is the procuring of male issue, physical capacity is an essential requisite, so long as mere selection of a bride alone is concerned; but a marriage with a eunuch is not an absolute nullity. Mental incapacity stands in the same position. While the matter rested in contract, no court, I imagine, would treat a promise to marry a lunatic or an idiot as binding; but the marriage, if celebrated, would be valid. A Hindu marriage is the performance of a religious duty, not a contract; the consenting mind is not necessary, and its absence, whether from infancy or incapacity, is immaterial." Again, at para. 89 of the same work, it is said: "A marriage actually and properly celebrated will be legal and binding, although it has been performed without the consent of the person whose consent ought to have been obtained. But in one of these cases it will not be necessity compels the application of the maxim, Factum valet, quod fieri non debuit. When the marriage is once completed, if either party refuses to live with the other, the case is no longer one for specific performance of a contract, but for restitution of conjugal rights. It has long been settled that such a suit would lie between Hindus, but there was much conflict of authority as to the mode in which the decree was to be enforced. The point has now been settled by section 260 of the Code of Civil Procedure, Act XIV. of 1882, which provides that where the party against whom the decree has been made has had an opportunity of obeying it, and has wilfully failed to do so, it may be enforced by imprisonment or by attachment of his property, or by both. Further, the husband is the natural guardian of his wife, and is entitled to require her to live in his house from the moment of the marriage, however young she may be. But this right does not exist when by custom, or agreement, the wife is to remain in her parents' house until puberty is established." The above authorities clearly show that a marriage among Hindus is a religious duty, and not a civil contract as the Hon. Justice Pinney's decision supposes. It will also be seen that the absence of the bride's consent does not invalidate the marriage, if actually and properly celebrated according to the religious law of the Hindus.

I also think the proposed law for altering enactments bearing on the subject. According to the Indian Majority Act IX. of 1875, the age of majority commences on the completion of the 21st year, if a guardian has been appointed as such, or otherwise majority commences on the completion of the 18th year, in the case of either a Hindu, Mahomedan, Parsee, or any other person domiciled in British India. But this provision does not affect such matters as marriage, adoption, and wife and divorce (vide section 2 of the Act), which matters are alone to be regulated according to the personal law of the party concerned, albeit he is a minor. It is thus that a marriage may be celebrated, though the couple may be minors and incapable of giving consent, which may be supplied on their behalf by their parents, or any other male relatives as natural or lawful guardians. Act XV. of 1865, which legalizes re-marriages of Hindu widows, also provides in its 7th section that "if the widow remarrying is a minor, whose marriage has not been consummated, she shall not remarry without the consent of her father, or if she has no father, of her paternal grandfather, or if she has no paternal grandfather, of her mother, or failing all these, of her elder brother, or failing also brothers, of her next male relative."

Section 29 of the Bombay Minors Act XX. of 1864 also provides for the marriage expenses of a minor being incurred by a guardian with the previous sanction of the civil courts.

The case of Kanahi Ram vs. Biddya Ram, I. L. R. 1 All. 549, which was decided so recently as 2nd January, 1878, may be usefully referred to here. That was a case in which the plaintiff Kanahi Ram, who was a near relation of the defendant, had sued for a declaration that the defendant, Biddya Ram, who was excommunicated from the caste, was not the proper guardian of the defendant's minor daughter, and for an injunction to restrain the defendant from marrying his minor daughter to an old man of seventy years of age. The plaintiff, Kanahi Ram, also prayed that the girl might be made over to him, in order that she might be married to a fit and proper person. The judges dismissed the plaintiff's suit, being of opinion that it was not maintainable, though they expressed their extreme regret in coming to that conclusion.

All these authorities clearly show that consent on the part of the bride or bridegroom is not an essential ingredient to constitute a valid marriage, upon which much stress had been laid in the case of Rakhmabai.

When considered from a criminal point of view, the decision in the case of Rakhmabai renders the situation of a Hindu husband still more unsatisfactory. I am of opinion, and I have no doubt that every Hindu will agree with me, that the present criminal law of India does not at all justify the decision arrived at in Rakhmabai's case.

Adultery, or enticing away with intent to have illicit intercourse with a woman, knowing or having reason to believe that she is the wife of another man, is an offence made punishable under sections 497 and 498 of the Indian Penal Code. But section 199 of the Code of Criminal Procedure provides that no court shall take cognizance of the offence, unless a complaint be instituted by the husband or by some person having the care of the woman. If the decision in the case of Rakhmabai be upheld on appeal, no charge of adultery or enticing away a married woman would ever be brought home to the accused, for the two simple and futile reasons that the woman was not a consenting party to the marriage, and because the marriage was not complete in the English sense of the word. Moreover, the sections of the Indian Penal Code above quoted will necessarily have to be altered in order to bring them in conformity with the Hon. Justice Pinhey's view of a Hindu marriage. I again say that should the Hon. Justice Pinhey's decision be upheld on appeal, I am sure no Hindu husband will ever be safe. JUSTICE.

Holloway's Pills.—Nervous Debility.—No part of the human machine requires more watching than the nervous system—upon it hangs health and life itself. These Pills are the best sedative and strengthener of the nerves, and the safest general purifiers. Affections of the face, coldness, numbness, and mental apathy yield to them. They dispel in a summary manner those distressing dyspeptic symptoms, stomachic pains, fulness at the pit of the stomach, abdominal distension, and overcome both capricious appetites and confined bowels—the commonly accompanying signs of defective or deranged nervous power. Holloway's Pills are particularly recommended to persons of studious and sedentary habits, who gradually sink into a nervous and debilitated state, unless some such restorative be occasionally taken.
